

400,000 COAL OUTPUT TO BE NEAR NORMAL FIRST OF WEEK, IS FORECAST

Majority of Miners Will Return to Work Tomorrow; Indication That Contempt Proceedings Will Not Be Pushed; Temperature Rising Throughout West But Heavy Snows Demoralize Traffic and Communication.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 11.—Relief from the most serious coal shortage ever known is in sight. No immediate relaxation of the rigid fuel conservation measures is to be expected, but the return to the mines of the first of the approximately 400,000 bituminous coal miners, held forth hope for a rapid return to normal conditions.

Possible Delays.

At some of the mines delays in resumption of production after acceptance yesterday at Indianapolis, Ind., of the proposal of president Wilson for a return to work, were expected to be few, however, and the more optimistic forecast that the first of tomorrow night the mines would be yielding 15 percent of a normal output.

Tens of thousands of empty coal cars today were on sidings at the mines in readiness to be rushed to the most needy sections as soon as loads were available. Relief for some points, however, faced delay because of almost unprecedented snowfall. In the plateau states railroad traffic was badly disrupted by snow-drifts and in the far northwest, where nearly all hours of uninterrupted snowfall was recorded, conditions were worse.

Temperature Rises.

Throughout the central area the sub-zero temperatures that yesterday in many places established seasonal records today had given way to milder temperatures and lessened the sacrifice coal saving entailed. Denver led the upward trend of the mercury with a 32 degree rise from 15 below zero to 47 above.

At other places the moderation was less marked. At Minneapolis, Minn., the thermometer rose from 15 below to even zero; at Omaha, Neb., from 16 below to six above; and at Chicago from minus 3 to five, with relief from the unseasonable weather in all regions forecast for tomorrow.

Activity in officially notifying miners that the coal strike was over prevented general resumption of local production. Everywhere the miners made the most optimistic reports, with word that coal was being mined from several big seams with the expectation that Saturday would see a statewide resumption of mining.

Illinois miners through the strike were among the most impatient for a maximum increase in wages and no union mine officials were disappointed when the strike ended. The same conditions prevailed in Iowa and Kansas.

Sichuan miners at a few points resumed work, but doubt was expressed that all the miners would accept the order to return to work.

In the eastern fields officials were busy notifying the miners and little coal was expected to be mined today. Ohio miners were expected to be in general operation by Monday.

MANY MORE LESS COAL POOL PROBLEMS DUE TO FLOODS

Property Loss in Southeast Totals Millions; Waters Receding.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 11.—Several thousand persons were homeless today and many more out of employment as a result of flooded rivers in Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi. Railroad schedules, particularly in lower Alabama and Mississippi, were demoralized and property loss was estimated in millions. Rivers in the three states had reached their highest stages in many years, but generally were receding today.

The crest of the floods, which have resulted in the loss of several lives, had not been reached last night, despite the occurrence of colder weather and absence of any more rain weather bureau officials said.

Miles of railroad tracks in the three states were under water and Mobile, Ala., and several smaller cities practically were isolated. Train service was discontinued temporarily on some lines.

At West Point, Ga., water was standing in the business section from five to ten feet deep and the Chattahoochee river was rising at a 11 foot flood stage.

At Columbus, Ga., damage from the flood was estimated at more than half a million dollars and 15,000 people were thrown out of work by the stoppage of industry.

Cohen Was The Ghost; 41 Hours In Chimney

NEW YORK, N. Y., Dec. 11.—Two greatly excited men rushed into the Clinton street police station here and told the police that they were unable to sleep because of the weird groans of a ghost. Detectives sent to investigate traced the groans to the cellar of the house. Then they sent in a call for the firemen of Truck No. 16, and the firemen hauled a hole in the chimney and hauled a man out. It was David Cohen, a pushcart peddler. David had discovered that the pushcart business didn't pay and decided to leave this life. He climbed to the roof of his boarding house and jumped down the chimney. The chimney not being suitable for a nose-first dive, David went in feet first. He reached the bottom somewhat the worse for wear, but not seriously hurt. And there he stayed for forty-one hours until his rescue. Doctors at the Gouverneur hospital, after an examination, said David would soon be able to return to his pushcart.

Congressional Medals Are Awarded 10 More Officers And Navy And Marine Men

Total List Now Reaches Nineteen, Including One, Post-humous; Lieut. Com. Madison Directed Ship While Wounded From Chair On Bridge Until Losing Consciousness In Sub Attack.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 11.—Names of ten additional officers and enlisted men of the navy and marine corps to whom congressional medals of honor for acts of extraordinary heroism during the war, including one post-humous award, were announced today by the navy department. The list, making a total of 19 in the naval and marine service, follows:

Lieut. Com. J. J. Madison, Hoboken, N. J.; Lieut. E. M. Isaacs, Port San Houston, Tex.; W. E. Osborne, M. C. Co., 1st Cavalry, Fort Bliss, N. M.; Petty, M. C., Philadelphia; Louis Cukela, M. P. Hoffman, M. C., no address.

Lieut. Com. Madison was cited for "exceptionally heroic service" during the submarine attack October 4, 1918, on the transport U. S. S. Thetis, under his command. After being severely wounded early in the attack, the citation said, he ordered that he be placed in a chair on the bridge from which he continued to direct the fire and to transfer the ship and to lose consciousness, he was lowered into a life boat and saved with the 31 other survivors.

Escape From Germany.

Captured during the submarine attack on the river at Kiel, and taken a prisoner to Germany, Lieut. Isaacs, after receiving valuable information of the movement of enemy submarines, succeeded in making his escape from Germany. Following his escape, he was captured by the enemy and taken to a place of confinement. He was released and escaped through a narrow passage, making his way through a mine field, and finally reached the British lines, where he was captured by the enemy and taken to a place of confinement. He was released and escaped through a narrow passage, making his way through a mine field, and finally reached the British lines, where he was captured by the enemy and taken to a place of confinement.

Died Aiding Comrade.

The posthumous award was conferred on Lieut. Osborne for gallantry during the submarine attack on the transport U. S. S. Thetis, when, under heavy fire, he helped rescue wounded comrades from a place of confinement. He was killed while aiding his comrades to escape through a narrow passage, making his way through a mine field, and finally reached the British lines, where he was captured by the enemy and taken to a place of confinement.

Man Drying Up Goes To France For Drink

Danville, Conn., Dec. 11.—When a man dries up, he usually is drying up, as proved by his loss of 15 pounds since July 1. It is best for him to go to France for drink, as he has found something to drink. Louis Gault, who has lived here for years, but who has been in New York since Saturday for France.

Gault, who is about 35 years old, has 20 years of experience in the liquor business. He has been in the liquor business for 20 years, but he can't get this comfort in this land of prohibition.

VILLISTA CHIEF REPORTED TO BE SEEKING AMNESTY

Unverified reports received here from Barral, Mexico, are to the effect that Pascual Severo, a Villista chief, with 10 men, has been seeking federal soldiers in the Barral district for amnesty, on the condition that they will surrender their arms and horses. It is said that the request for amnesty has been transmitted to Gen. M. Dugan for action and that the bandits are camped near Barral awaiting a reply. Officials at the Mexican consulate in New York had no confirmation of the report.

DAMAGED STEAMER TO MAKE PORT UNDER HER OWN STEAM

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 11.—Messages from the British steamer Carmichael, which collided with the steamer Maryland, about 400 miles off the coast yesterday, indicated that she would make port under her own steam some time tomorrow. The Carmichael reported she was in no danger. The Maryland proceeded on her course.

No Purity Squads To Be Organized And No Unlawful Raids Permitted, Council Informs Health Officers

EL PASO will continue its work in checking prostitution and preventing the spread of social diseases, order and quietly and without any changes; no wholesale arrests or unlawful raids will be permitted, no purity squads will be organized and no arrests will be made except by warrant and in compliance with the law.

This was made clear at a conference Thursday which was held at the city hall between mayor Charles J. E. Montgomery, Dr. Oscar Davis, state director of the bureau of social diseases, and Dr. G. C. Wenger, regional commissioner for the division of social diseases.

It was declared at the conference that the city's work in preventing the spread of social diseases and maintaining order and quietude in the city would be continued. It was said that although the problem of El Paso has been particularly difficult on account of the war, the city is handling well the situation.

Reports from Fort Bliss, it was said, show that not a single new case of social disease has been reported during the last seven weeks.

Dr. Wenger and Dr. Davis are in this city to investigate social diseases with reference to the laws pertaining to social diseases and prostitution.

"We are well pleased with the work of the city in this regard," said Dr. Wenger.

"The general situation of the city is well maintained and is worthy of the highest praise," said Dr. Wenger.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES EVIDENCE FROM OIL PRODUCERS IN MEXICO

Situation Growing Grave; Serious Shortage Faces United States Navy Vessels; Decree of Carranza Forces Producers to Give Mexico Right to New Wells; Federal Troops Stop Americans From Drilling.

EAGLE PASS, Texas, Dec. 11.—In reprisal for the recent execution of Gen. Felipe Angeles, 400 Villistas early Tuesday attacked the town of Muzquiz, state of Coahuila, looting the stores and seizing several prominent citizens for hostages, according to information received here today.

When Studies Oil Situation.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 11.—President Wilson had before him today another memorandum on the Mexican situation. It related to the interference of the Carranza government in the operation of American owned oil properties in Mexico and was prepared by chairman Payne of the Rockefeller board, upon information furnished by representatives of Mexican oil producers. Chairman Payne said the memorandum was a warning that the state department take action toward protecting the American owned oil properties in Mexico. He said that the Carranza government had been interfering with the operations of American oil companies in Mexico and that the state department should take action to protect the American oil companies.

Ask Report On Red Invasion From Mexico

Washington, D. C., Dec. 11.—Immigration officials on the border were instructed today by Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration, to forward a report on the threatened invasion from Mexico of 50 Russian Bolsheviks and 150 Mexicans. L. W. W. Mr. Caminetti expressed little concern as to the ability of the immigration officials to cope with such a situation in view of the strength of the United States troops on the border.

Juarez Liquor Dealers Stock Up With Booze; Seek Large Storehouses

A Mexican liquor dealer is trying to rent a storehouse for liquor, declaring he has ordered a stock from the United States "which will arrive in a short time. And I want a place for storage."

An investigation revealed that liquor dealers of Juarez are facing a new proposition. Numbers of them are seeking starting places for liquor. All of them have ordered an unusually heavy stock for the reason, they say, that within a short time they cannot get American liquors.

Some Juarez dealers predicted that within a short time a number of distilleries will open in Mexico, in addition to the few now operating, in order to furnish whiskey, which is not largely manufactured in Mexico.

Questioned as to whether prices will go up, dealers answered with a shrug.

Juarez dispensaries believe prohibition does not have as great a tendency to increase the use of drugs as is generally believed. All agree, however, that some who demand prohibition will turn to morphine and cocaine.

Liquor dealers assert the "drunk" is the worst menace of drinking in Juarez.

FEDERAL COURT BLOCKS SALE OF LAND IN CHIHUAHUA

The federal court of the Tular district, granted a writ of amparo, which blocks the sale of 2000 acres of land in Chihuahua, owned by the Carranza government. The writ was appealed to the federal appellate court.

The original suit was brought by a company here to recover payment of $100,000, which is said to be due upon contract to the Carranza government. The company is the Carranza government. The writ was granted by the federal appellate court.
